Amanda Ross-Ho at Vleeshal Gallery, Middelburg

BY PAUL DURAND | DECEMBER 06, 2016

A solo exhibition of Amanda Ross-Ho is on display at Vleeshal Gallery, Middelburg. Titled 'Untitled Period Piece', the exhibition is on view through December 11, 2016.

Working primarily as a sculptor, Amanda Ross-Ho uses a diverse range of materials and techniques. Her large-scale works combines readymade or found objects and images with other elements that she meticulously crafts. Her exhibition at Vleeshal presents a new body of work exploring themes of labour, time and economy. The space features a series of sculptures that take the form of workbenches with mirrored surfaces displaying miniature sculptures and small objects from mass-produced baby sneakers to prehistoric silverfish rendered as 3D prints.
