the subject and adds a new layer of meaning. The objects and people in Wood's work provide a rare insight into the many facets of the artist's character, much like the many layered and constructed paintings themselves. The artist's practice encompasses multiple genres, most of which reference the family, piecing together and layering a collage of memories, places, people, heroes, and art objects.

The exhibition is on view at Anton Kern Gallery, 532 West 20th Street New York, NY 10011.
